The Changing/Evolving Nature of Criminal Justice in the South

September 7-10, 2016
To: The Attendees of the Southern Criminal Justice Association Conference

GREETINGS:

I am pleased to extend my warmest regards to the Southern Criminal Justice Association. On behalf of the State of Georgia, it is a pleasure to be a part of your event.

Please allow me to welcome your distinguished guests and other attendees. I applaud the Southern Criminal Justice Association for serving criminal justice educators, researchers, practitioners, and students committed to the ongoing development of the criminal justice science and practice. As you come together for this year’s conference, I encourage you to discuss ideas regarding criminal justice reform and professional development and interaction.

I commend the Southern Criminal Justice Association for organizing this event and send my best wishes for a successful and enjoyable conference.

Sincerely,

Nathan Deal

Southern Criminal Justice Association
2016 Annual Conference

Dear Conference Attendees:

On behalf of the citizens of Savannah, the Savannah City Council joins me in extending greetings to the members of the Southern Criminal Justice Association. We are delighted that you again chose Savannah as the site for your 2016 Annual Conference.

Savannah, with its well-known reputation for southern hospitality, opens her doors wide to welcome all SCJA conference attendees. We are confident that you will find everything you need here in our lovely city for top level support of your conference. Your chosen host venue, the luxurious Hilton Savannah DeSoto Hotel, is designed to provide you with an exceptional guest experience.

Within walking distance from your hotel, you will find many opportunities for fine dining, sports activities and entertainment as well as the distinctive flavor of historic Old Savannah as you walk the cobblestone streets browsing its many shops. We hope you will get a chance to stroll down our famous River Walk as well while you are here.

As you address the issues on your agenda, we are certain that the knowledge and information exchanged will be valuable tools that will further enhance your occupational skills as criminal justice professionals. So enjoy your conference, but also be sure to enjoy the sights, sounds and tastes of our great city.

Sincerely,

Eddie W. DeLoach
Mayor

Dear SCJA Members and Conference Participants,

Welcome to the enchanting city of Savannah, Georgia, for our 44th meeting of the Southern Criminal Justice Association! It has been almost ten years since we were in Savannah and I am excited to be back in this old Southern city. Please take the time to enjoy the sights and attractions while you are here.

This year's conference theme is "The Changing/Evolving Nature of Criminal Justice in the South." It is our hope that the presentations and roundtables will help bring insights into aspects of criminology and criminal justice that are unique or especially relevant to the South. The Program Chair (Sean Maddan) has scheduled an outstanding group of panels, roundtables, and social events and we hope that you will enjoy them throughout the week. Remember that we will have great food and drink served throughout the conference. Highlights of these events include the Presidential Address/Poster Session Wednesday 4:00 pm – 6:00 pm, the President’s Reception hosted by the University of Central Florida Wednesday night at 6:00-8:30, the Reception hosted by Springer Thursday night at 6:00-8:30, a short Friday evening Participants’ Reception from 5:00-6:00. This year’s Awards Luncheon (Friday at 12:00-1:45 pm in the Madison Ballroom) will recognize the achievements of our various award winners and feature a Keynote Address from Dr. Peter Manning from Northeastern University.

It has been a great honor serving as President of SCJA. While we have implemented a number of new initiatives, the ones I am most proud of are those fostering student development. In the last few years, we have made a concerted effort to attract students. Our initiatives included adding the Tom Barker Award for outstanding undergraduates. With the Tom Barker Award we can now recognize outstanding undergraduate, Master’s, and Doctoral students. We also implemented a student poster competition last year in Charleston. The inaugural winners of the student poster award were Jack Lightfoot (faculty mentor Laurie Gould) and Michael Ten Eyck (faculty mentor JC Barnes). Finally, we have introduced two graduate student breakfasts where students can meet with faculty and discuss issues relating to success in graduate school and how to get their work published. We hope to continue this tradition and to bring in more students each year.

SCJA is on an upward trajectory. Our journal, the American Journal of Criminal Justice, is one of the top journals in the field. The journal’s editor, Wesley Jennings, has done a remarkable job with increasing the visibility and prestige of the journal. Dr. Jennings’ editorial term will be coming to an end soon and we will be looking for a new editor. I encourage all to think about applying for this position. I express my gratitude to the entire SCJA Board for all of their hard work and dedication to the organization.

A great deal of planning went into this conference. I thank all of the committee chairs and the Board of Directors for their efforts at ensuring the conference is a success. I thank past Presidents Greg Dunaway and Holly Miller, whom I frequently sought for advice. It really helped having the benefit of their experiences. Also, I thank Sean Maddan, this year’s Program Chair, for his time and effort devoted toward making the program a success. Please make sure to provide Sean with feedback regarding the conference so that we can improve your meeting experience next year in New Orleans, Louisiana.

I hope each of you enjoys the conference, the Hilton DeSoto, and Savannah. Thank you for attending.

Best Wishes,

Heith Copes, Ph.D.

SCJA Position Announcement

Editor

American Journal of Criminal Justice (AJCJ)

The Southern Criminal Justice Association (SCJA) is seeking applications for the position of editor of the American Journal of Criminal Justice (AJCJ), the official journal of SCJA. AJCJ is a refereed publication and manuscripts go through a blind review process. The focus of AJCJ is on a wide array of criminal justice topics and issues. Some of these include items pertaining to the criminal justice process, the formal and informal interplay between system components, problems and solutions experienced by various segments, innovative practices, policy development and implementation, evaluative research, the players engaged in these enterprises, and a wide assortment of other related interests. The AJCJ publishes original articles that utilize a broad range of methodologies and perspectives when examining crime, law, and criminal justice processing. The editor will be responsible for the continuation of administering a high quality academic journal for the SCJA membership and public. The editor will set editorial policy, select deputy and associate editors, maintain a peer review system, and manage the journal. Proposals for co-editorships will not be considered.

Selection criteria: Criteria to be considered for selecting the Editor include:

- Earned PhD in criminal justice or associated field.
- SCJA membership in good standing for three continuous years at the time of application.
- Demonstrated record of scholarly activity as measured by such indicators as publications in refereed journals, book publications, and other publications. Strong preference will be given to applicants who have published in the American Journal of Criminal Justice.
- Prior editorial experience as measured by such indicators as previous experience as an Editor of an academic peer-reviewed journal, past experience as an associate/deputy editor of an academic peer-reviewed journal, or other editorial experience (editorial board member, reviewer, etc.).

Application Due Date, Starting Date, and Editorial Term: Nominations are due via email to the Chair of the Editor Search Committee (Dr. Sean Maddan, smaddan@ut.edu) by January 15, 2017. The new editor will be selected by March 1, 2017 and will begin the transition to editor in Summer 2017. The new editor will begin receiving (and soliciting, at least initially) manuscripts in Fall 2017 to prepare for a first issue in early 2018. The length of the editorial term is 3 years (2018, 2019, 2020).

Application Procedure: Applications should be submitted no later than January 15, 2017 to Dr. Sean Maddan, Editor Search Committee Chair at smaddan@ut.edu. Application materials must include: 1) statement of editorial philosophy, including vision for the journal; 2) current CV; and 3) letter of commitment from applicant’s chair/dean on letterhead indicating institutional support (NOTE: Common institutional support packages include a one course release for the editor each year of the term and a minimum of a ten hour per week funded student graduate student to assist the editor in manuscript processing.)

Further inquiries should be directed to the Editor Search Committee Chair, Dr. Sean Maddan, smaddan@ut.edu.

CALL FOR PAPERS

The American Journal of Criminal Justice, sponsored by the Southern Criminal Justice Association, is a refereed publication, where manuscripts go through a blind review process. The focus of AJCJ is on a wide array of criminal justice topics and issues, including items pertaining to the criminal justice process, the formal and informal interplay between system components, problems and solutions experienced by various segments, innovative practices, policy development and implementation, evaluative research, the players engaged in these enterprises, and a wide assortment of other related interests. The AJCJ publishes original articles that utilize a broad range of methodologies and perspectives to examine crime, law, and criminal justice processing.

Prospective authors should send a cover letter with contact information and the manuscript electronically to Caitlyn Meade, Managing Editor, at ajcjscja@usf.edu.

Criminology & Criminal Justice

Our programs offer students small class sizes, flexible online courses, and dedicated faculty members committed to teaching, research, and service. Students have numerous opportunities to participate in internships in the field and on exciting research projects with dynamic faculty members.

The department offers a Bachelor of Arts and Master of Science in Criminal Justice. An Accelerated Bachelor’s to Master’s program allows high-performing students the opportunity to earn both degrees in less time. The department also houses an interdisciplinary social science degree focused on children and society. UWF’s Department of Criminology and Criminal Justice programs are designed to prepare students for successful careers in criminal justice and related fields at federal, state, local, and private levels and to seek advanced degrees. Our faculty members are engaged in a variety of research projects, providing many opportunities for both undergraduate and graduate students to engage in hands-on learning experiences.

Founded in 1963, the University of West Florida is a vibrant, distinctive institution of higher learning with undergraduate, graduate and targeted research programs. With multiple locations in Northwest Florida, the University serves a student population of more than 12,000. Dedicated to helping students realize their full potential, UWF favors small class sizes with quality teacher-scholars who deliver personalized, innovative, hands-on learning and leadership opportunities.

Ph.D. in Criminal Justice:

The Department of Criminal Justice invites applicants for our Criminal Justice Ph.D. program. This degree is designed to provide professional training for those interested in academic as well as applied research positions.

We are seeking qualified Masters Degree graduates wanting to further their professional careers and who are interested in a 12-month stipend (with health insurance) and full tuition remission. The qualifications for admission to the Ph.D. program are as follows: Master GPA-3.25, GRE-296, and for international students a TOEFL score of 80 on the Internet based test. Graduate assistant appointments include both research and instructional placements.

Our faculty are active scholars, engaging in research that encourages and supports best practices in criminal justice strategies, programs and organizations. The faculty’s orientation toward applied research results in strong partnerships with local, state, national and international criminal justice organizations and provides our students with significant research opportunities.

Louisville is a vibrant and diverse metropolitan area of nearly 1 million. The University of Louisville is one of a selective group of public universities nationwide to be designated an institution of “very high research activity” by the Carnegie Foundation.

Master of Arts in Criminology
The Master of Arts in Criminology degree is designed to develop and enhance the student’s knowledge of criminology to prepare them for administrative or research careers in the criminal justice system. Graduates of the program often enter law school, doctoral programs, or are successful in finding employment in local, state, and federal agencies and private corporations.

Our faculty are experienced professionals with diverse backgrounds in working with the criminal justice system and conducting research on a wide range of issues. We encourage faculty-student collaboration and student research based on the students’ practical and academic interests.

The seminar style classrooms allow students to engage in critical examination of criminological theory and criminal justice issues in addition to intelligent and effective discussions on various topics. All of our courses are offered in the evenings or online delivery formats to fit the demands of contemporary students’ schedules.

criminology.westga.edu
Georgia Southern University’s Department of Criminal Justice and Criminology provides a comprehensive examination of justice, crime and the law by offering a broad foundation of courses that prepare students for professions within the criminal justice system and for further study in graduate or law school.

The Department offers a Bachelor of Science in Justice Studies (BSJS) and a Master of Arts in Social Sciences (MASS) with a concentration in Criminal Justice and Criminology.

The Criminal Justice and Criminology concentration in the MASS program offers students an opportunity to refine their analytical, research and critical thinking skills. The program is designed to foster a greater understanding of the criminal justice system along with the etiology, correlates and theories of criminal behavior. Students are required to take seminars in criminological theory and research methodology including quantitative or qualitative design, and select from specialized seminars focusing on current trends in criminal justice and criminology, as well as topics of interest from collaborating MASS disciplines, including sociology, anthropology and political science.

Among the hallmarks of the Department of Criminal Justice and Criminology are the expertise of its faculty and its emphasis on engagement with students, who have both presented and published with faculty. Students also are supported in connecting to the field, as internships are available throughout the region to undergraduate and graduate students.

About the University
The University of Texas at Arlington (UTA) is a Carnegie R1 Highest Research Activity university located in the heart of the Dallas/Fort Worth Metroplex. UTA is the second-largest university in the UT System, with an enrollment of approximately 38,000 students. UTA was designated by the U.S. Department of Education as a Hispanic-Serving Institution in 2014, and U.S. News & World Report ranks UTA fifth among national universities for undergraduate diversity. In addition, the Metroplex area offers access to a wide array of federal, state, and local agencies.

About the Department
The Department of Criminology and Criminal Justice at UTA currently has nearly 700 undergraduate majors, and is one of the fastest-growing units on campus. The department offers two MA degree programs, with approximately 100 graduate students across both programs. The MA on-campus program is designed for pre-professional students, criminal justice professionals, and students preparing for entry into PhD or law programs. The MA cohort program is offered at our Ft. Worth campus, and is designed for criminal justice professionals who want to complete an intensive, executive MBA-style program. Additional information about all of our programs may be found online at: http://www.uta.edu/criminology

About the Faculty
This is an exciting time of growth in the department as we continue to hire tenured/tenure track faculty. Currently we have eight tenured/tenure-track faculty members whose research and teaching strengths are in Corrections, Race and Crime, Gender and Crime, Life-Course Criminology, Juvenile Delinquency, Gangs, and Religion.

Master of Public Administration program

The Master of Public Administration (MPA) program at Appalachian State University is an accredited program designed to ensure students become proficient in the knowledge, skills, and ethical values needed to become effective managers of public and non-profit sector agencies. The mission of the program is to educate and prepare in-service and pre-service students to be public service leaders by fostering foundational knowledge, analytical and practical skills, and professional networks.

MPA students select one of the following four tracks as their area of concentration:
- Administration of Justice
- Not-for-Profit Management
- Public Management
- Town, City, and County Management

The Administration of Justice track is appropriate for persons with interest in the areas of:
- A senior administrative position in a criminal justice-related agency
- A planner, budget analyst, or crime analyst within a criminal justice-related agency
- Opportunities for advancement within local, state, or federal criminal justice-related agencies.

Courses are taught by Public Administration and Criminal Justice faculty members. Students in the Administration of Justice track complete eight required core courses, two pre-approved criminal justice courses, and three elective courses that are chosen with approval of the MPA director. All Administration of Justice track students must complete 6 credit hours of internship experience that involves full-time service in an approved criminal justice-related agency. For information about the Criminal Justice faculty and the MPA Administration of Justice track, visit http://mpa.appstate.edu/tracks/administration-justice-track.

For additional information about the MPA program contact Dr. Mark Bradbury, MPA Director (bradburymd@ AppState.edu) or visit the MPA Website: www.mpa.appstate.edu.

The University of Nebraska at Omaha shall not discriminate based upon age, race, ethnicity, color, national origin, gender identity, sex, pregnancy, disability, sexual orientation, genetic information, veteran’s status, marital status, religion, or political affiliation.
The master’s degree in Criminal Justice is designed to provide a foundation in research and theory in substantive areas of criminal justice activity and focused scholarship on issues of importance to the field.

The faculty in our department is very productive in terms of teaching, publishing, and service to the community.

This translates into graduate courses that are cutting-edge and relevant as well as opportunities for both faculty-student research collaborations and student engagement in community discipline-related service.

The Department of Criminal Justice at Boise State University was named one of the top 10 M.A.-granting universities in terms of total grant dollars obtained by our faculty (Mustaine & Tewksbury, 2009).

A recent internal review determined that our program has a 100% placement rate for students applying to Ph.D. programs.

Department of Criminal Justice

UNIVERSITY OF CENTRAL FLORIDA • ORLANDO

The University of Central Florida’s Department of Criminal Justice provides excellence in teaching, research, and service. Dedicated to its students, the faculty delivers outstanding instruction at the undergraduate and graduate levels, incorporating learning, service, and inquiry. The department also has a vibrant, research active faculty engaged with local, state, national, and international partners. Faculty have secured millions of dollars in grant funding and produced cutting edge research. The Department of Criminal Justice faculty have turned this research into publications routinely found in high-level peer reviewed journals as well as practitioner-based outlets.

By actively developing meaningful partnerships, the department provides exemplary service to the university and broader professional and academic communities.

Program Features:

- More than 30 full-time faculty members, with specializations in areas such as policing, corrections, juvenile justice, race and ethnicity, and violence and victimization
- More than 1,300 undergraduate criminal justice students and 250 Master’s students
- Full-time Ph.D. program specializing in policing, corrections, and juvenile justice
- The department’s undergraduate and master’s programs offer both face to face and online options
- Scholarships, graduate assistantships, and fellowships for qualified students

The University of Central Florida is the second-largest university in the country and is located in Orlando near Atlantic and Gulf coast beaches and world-famous tourist attractions. The central Florida region is an ideal location for doctoral students to work with a variety of criminal justice agencies and institutions.
