CITY COUNCIL

September 17, 2014

Dear Southern Criminal Justice Association Attendees:

The City of Clearwater, its residents, and my colleagues on the Clearwater City Council welcome you to the conference at the Clearwater Beach Hilton Hotel. All of us are delighted that you have selected Clearwater and look forward to being your hosts.

Clearwater has recently been rated the "best beach town in Florida" and the "best place to watch a sunset." But, its residents are most proud of living in a city that is a great place to call "home." So, please enjoy the city's hospitality, its sugar sand beaches, fine restaurants, and, of course, the Clearwater Marine Aquarium, home of Winter the Dolphin whose newest movie just premiered.

Thank you for being here, and all of us wish you not only a most successful convention, but also safe travel home and, hopefully, back to Clearwater in future years.

With best wishes and warm, personal regards, I am

Sincerely,

George N. Cretekos
Mayor

Dear Southern Criminal Justice Association Conference Attendees:

On behalf of the men and women of the Clearwater Police Department, it is my privilege to welcome you to the City of Clearwater, Florida for the 2014 Southern Criminal Justice Association Conference. I am confident this year's conference will provide excellent educational and networking opportunities.

While you are visiting with us, I hope you have the occasion to experience all that Clearwater has to offer. From our exceptional restaurants to the finest beaches, our town enjoys a flourishing business community and is the ideal place to visit whether on vacation or for a work-related conference.

As always, the Clearwater Police Department will make it a priority to work hand in hand with other organizations such as SCJA that are committed to the field of criminal justice. These vital partnerships will ensure our place at the forefront of innovative policing while meeting the increasing public safety needs of the community we protect.

Again, welcome and please enjoy your stay in our great city!

Sincerely,

Dear SCJA Members and Conference Participants,

Welcome to beautiful Clearwater Beach for our 42nd meeting of the Southern Criminal Justice Association! This is the second time in recent years that we have visited Clearwater and the first time in many years I have been able to drive to the conference. I am happy to be back in the region at the University of North Florida in the Department of Criminology and Criminal Justice. SCJA has been busy this past year with our second year of electronic elections where we saw the election of two new Board members, a new Treasurer, and a new 2nd Vice-President. We also had a search for Editor of the American Journal of Criminal Justice as Wesley Jennings' first three-year term is drawing to a close. Luckily for the association, Wesley threw his hat in the ring for a second term and the search committee decided unanimously to offer him an additional three years at the helm. I am sure we can all agree that Wesley has done an outstanding job in the role of Editor. From lightening fast turnarounds on reviews to raising the profile of the journal, Wesley was a strong candidate to lead AJCJ for another three years. And, as many of you know, we renewed the journal's contract with Springer last year and, like last year, they will be hosting our reception on Thursday night. Please attend and meet our Springer representatives and thank them for their support of AJCJ and SCJA. Thank you Springer!

We also invite you to attend the General Business Meeting on Friday morning where we will provide an overview of SCJA activities and an update regarding recent Executive Board actions and decisions. We are welcoming a number of new and returning Board members this year, including Sean Maddan from University of Tampa as the incoming 2nd Vice-President (who also just completed three years as Director-at Large), two new Directors-at-Large, Cathy Marcum from Appalachian State University and Bryan Miller from Georgia Southern University, a new Treasurer, Kent Kerley from University Alabama-Birmingham, and a new ACJS Representative, Dean Dabney from Georgia State University (elected last Spring). Sean is replacing Heith Copes, who ascends to 1st VP, Cathy and Bryan replace Danielle MacDonald and Sean on the Board of Directors, and Kent replaces Kathy Johnson as Treasurer. Special thanks are due to Danielle, Sean, and Kathy for their exemplary service on the Board. Each of these individuals has contributed significantly to SCJA during their tenure and devoted much time and effort to the continued success of the association.

I hope you will be able to attend the many social functions scheduled this week. We will have great food and drink served at the Presidential Address/Poster Session Wednesday 3:30 pm – 5:30 pm, the President's Reception Wednesday night at 6:30, the Participants' Reception hosted by Springer Thursday night at 6:30, a short Friday evening reception from 5-6, and the Annual SCJA Awards Luncheon on Friday. This year's Awards Luncheon (Friday at 12:30 pm in the Waters' Edge Ballroom) will recognize the achievements of our various award winners and feature a Keynote Address from Dr. Christopher J. Schreck, Professor of Criminal Justice at the Rochester Institute of Technology.

Finally, I would like to thank Greg Dunaway, this year's Program Chair, for his time and effort devoted toward making the program a success. Please make sure to provide Greg with feedback regarding the conference so that we can improve your meeting experience next year in Charleston, SC (2015).

I hope each of you enjoys the conference, the Hilton, and Clearwater Beach! Thank you for attending!

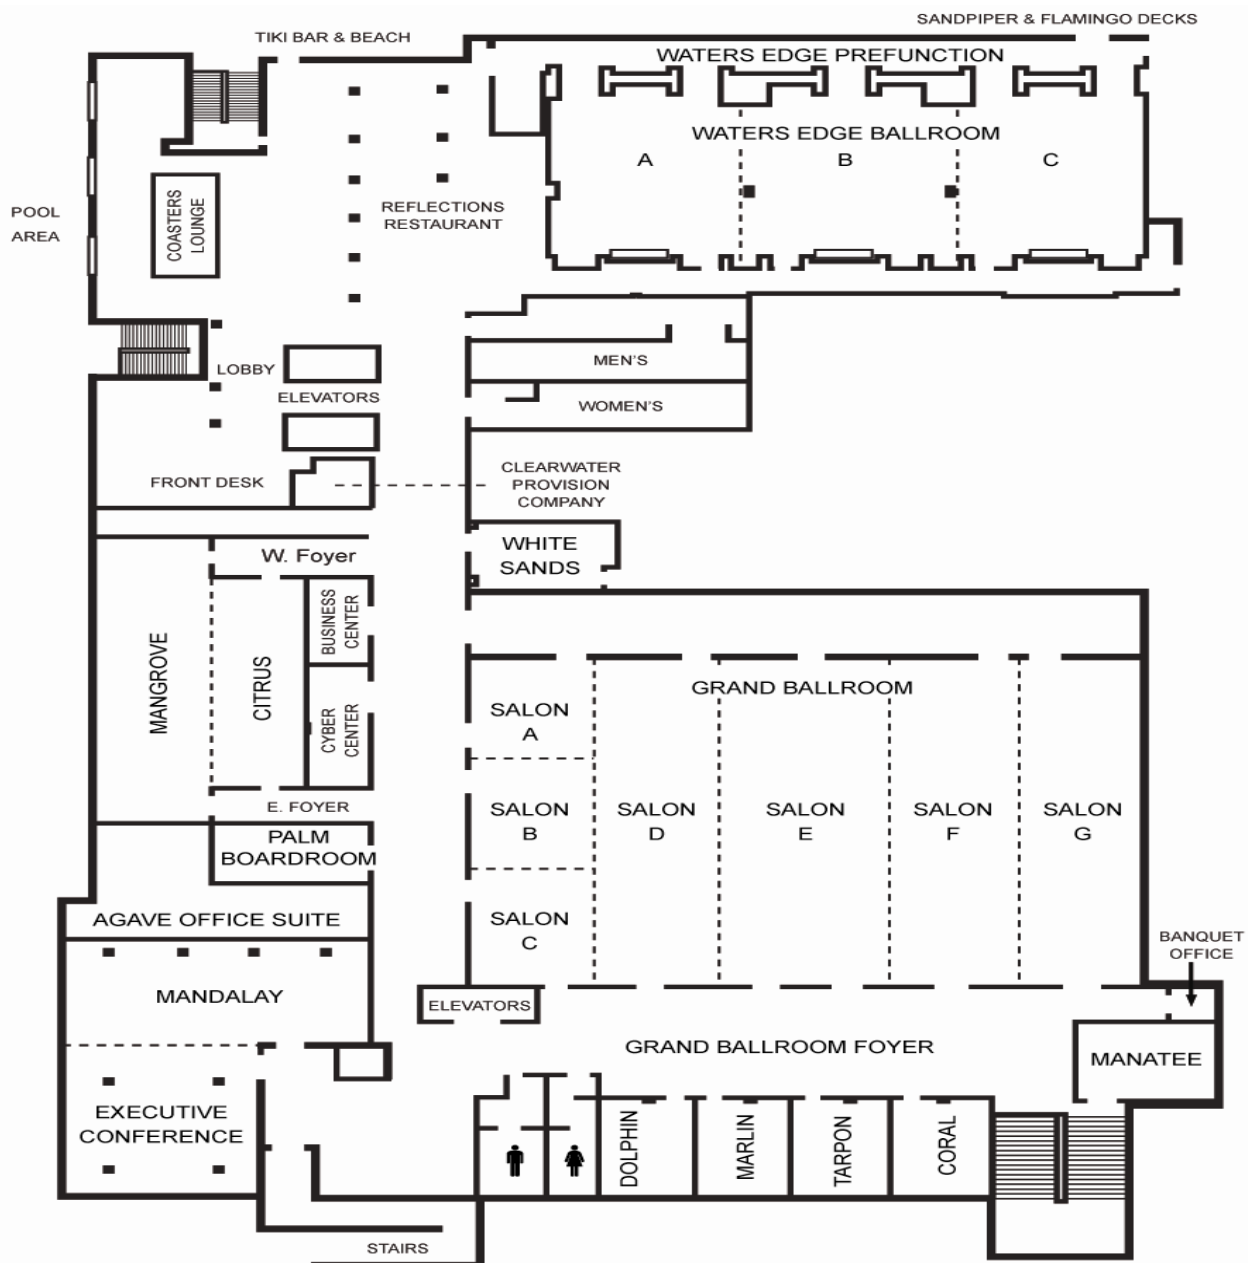

Best Wishes,

Holly Ventura Miller

SCJA KEYNOTE 2014:
DR. CHRISTOPHER J. SCHRECK

"Exploring Victimization as a Cause of Offending Across the Transition From Adolescence to Adulthood"

Christopher J. Schreck is a professor in the Department of Criminal Justice at the Rochester Institute of Technology, where he teaches courses on criminological theory, violence, and research methods. He received his Ph.D. in Crime, Law, and Justice from the Pennsylvania State University in 2000.

Professor Schreck specializes in research on violence, but is most well known for his work on the correlation between victimization and offending. In particular, his research linking victimization with low self-control was pivotal in bringing renewed scholarly attention to understanding and explaining the reasons some people become victims while others do not. His work has been mentioned in Time Magazine and has appeared in Criminology, the Journal of Research in Crime and Delinquency, Journal of Quantitative Criminology, Crime and Delinquency, and in many other outlets. He is a past editor of the Journal of Crime and Justice (2002-06) and the Journal of Criminal Justice Education (2008-11).

Although he now lives in frozen Western New York, he was raised in Florida (his family still lives there) and he earned his B.A. in Criminal Justice at the University of Florida in 1994.

CALL FOR PAPERS

AMERICAN JOURNAL OF CRIMINAL JUSTICE

SPECIAL ISSUE: SUBSTANCE ABUSE TREATMENT IN THE CRIMINAL JUSTICE SYSTEM

GUEST EDITORS: Holly Ventura Miller, Ph.D., Associate Professor of Criminology & Criminal Justice, University of North Florida and J. Mitchell Miller, Ph.D., Professor of Criminology & Criminal Justice, University of North Florida

Description of the special issue:

There has been a proliferation of substance abuse treatment in the criminal justice system over the last two decades, much of which has been coupled with implementation, process, and outcome evaluations. Papers are invited for a special issue on drug treatment in the justice system, including research on established and novel treatment modalities, drug treatment policy, and empirical assessments of the effectiveness of intervention initiatives. Please send manuscripts for publication consideration to guest editors Holly Ventura Miller (holly.miller@unf.edu) and J. Mitchell Miller (mitch.miller@unf.edu) by December 15, 2014. Papers should be no more than 25 double-spaced pages in length (including text, tables, and references) and should adhere to APA style. The anticipated publication date of the special issue is December 2015.

CALL FOR PAPERS

The American Journal of Criminal Justice, sponsored by the Southern Criminal Justice Association, is a refereed publication, where manuscripts go through a blind review process. The focus of AJ CJ is on a wide array of criminal justice topics and issues, including items pertaining to the criminal justice process, the formal and informal interplay between system components, problems and solutions experienced by various segments, innovative practices, policy development and implementation, evaluative research, the players engaged in these enterprises, and a wide assortment of other related interests. The AJ CJ publishes original articles that utilize a broad range of methodologies and perspectives to examine crime, law, and criminal justice processing.

Prospective authors should send a cover letter with contact information and the manuscript electronically to Caitlyn Meade, Managing Editor, at ajcjscja@usf.edu.

The Department of Sociology is organized as a Ph.D. granting research department with explicitly defined missions of research, instruction, and service. The Department resides within the College of Arts and Sciences although its members have historically carried out research and service through the Social Science Research Center (SSRC) as well as other research entities. The Department offers B.A. degrees in sociology and criminology and a BSW in social work. M.S. and Ph.D. degree programs are offered in sociology. In addition to over 400 undergraduate majors in all programs, the department has over 50 graduate students in residence.

The Department has developed longstanding emphases in criminology, social demography, social stratification, and community development. Currently, the Department has 19 faculty members specializing in these various areas. The Department is one of the larger concentrations of sociological expertise in the Southern region as evidenced in the number of graduate faculty, the enrollment of graduate students, the placement and success of doctoral graduates, the number and frequency of publication, the level of funding for grants and contracts, the facilities and other infrastructure for sociological research and education.

Students and faculty have the opportunity to work with two crime and justice research consortiums. The Crime and Justice Research Unit (CJRU) is a collaboration between researchers at the SSRC and faculty in the Mississippi State University departments of psychology and sociology. Scientists of this unit conduct research on a wide variety of criminological topics. The Mississippi Juvenile Justice Research Consortium is a collaboration between the SSRC and a number of other state agencies that serves as a centralized and comprehensive juvenile justice research center. The consortium is designed to address the deficiencies in planning, research and evaluation capacity of Mississippi's juvenile justice system and to establish an ongoing program of data collection and a repository of juvenile justice data within the Public Safety Data Laboratory at the SSRC.

There are six sociology faculty members who specialize in criminology which include Raymond Barranco, Gregory Dunaway, Stacy Haynes, Shelley Matthews, David May, and Nicole Rader.

CRIMINAL JUSTICE REVIEW

A peer-reviewed scholarly journal featuring articles • research notes • commentaries • book reviews • recent legal developments

The Criminal Justice Review presents a broad perspective on criminal justice issues in the United States. Its articles focus on crime and the justice system; feature local, state and national concerns; and emphasize contemporary or historical topics.

We encourage the submission of articles, research notes, and commentaries that focus on crime and broadly defined justice-related topics. Submissions of both qualitative and quantitative pieces are encouraged, providing they adhere to the standards of quality scholarship.

Guidelines for Submissions

Manuscripts must be in English, follow APA style, be double-spaced throughout and must include an abstract of 200 words or less. The manuscript cannot be under consideration by another publication. Submit your manuscript online at <http://mc.manuscriptcentral.com/cjr>. Detailed submission guidelines are available at: <http://goo.gl/TfElZd>

The Criminal Justice Review is published quarterly. Annual subscription rates for institutions are $278 and individuals, $40, and both rates are based on the current frequency. Canadian subscribers add 7% GST (and HST as appropriate). Outside U.S. subscription rates include shipping via air-speeded delivery.

Ph.D. in Justice Administration:

The Department of Justice Administration invites applicants for our Ph.D. program. This degree is designed to provide professional training for those interested in academic as well as applied research positions.

We are seeking qualified Masters Degree graduates wanting to further their professional careers and who are interested in a 12-month stipend (with health insurance) and full tuition remission. Graduate assistant appointments include both research and instructional placements.

Our faculty are active scholars, engaging in research that encourages and supports best practices in criminal justice strategies, programs and organizations. The faculty's orientation toward applied research results in strong partnerships with local, state, national and international criminal justice organizations and provides our students with significant research opportunities.

Louisville is a vibrant and diverse metropolitan area of nearly 1 million. The University of Louisville is one of a selective group of public universities nationwide to be designated an institution of "very high research activity" by the Carnegie Foundation.

The rising STAR of Texas

TEXAS STATE UNIVERSITY OFFERS A PH.D. DEGREE IN CRIMINAL JUSTICE

Why a Ph.D. from Texas State University's School of Criminal Justice?

- The School has 19 full-time, doctoral faculty members with backgrounds in criminology/criminal justice, law, sociology, and psychology.
- The Center for Geospatial Intelligence and Investigation is headed by Dr. Kim Rossmo who is the world's leading expert on geographic profiling.
- Doctoral students include both traditional, full-time students and part-time, working professionals.
- Doctoral teaching and research assistantships are available for full-time students and pay about $26,000 for the academic year.

The School of Criminal Justice at Texas State University offers a doctoral program for (1) criminal justice professionals who seek advanced education and (2) students who will pursue academic appointments at colleges and universities in Texas and around the nation. Texas State University is located in the heart of the central Texas corridor, near 16 state criminal justice offices and 13 Texas counties, including Travis (Austin) and Bexar (San Antonio). The university's geographic proximity to state criminal justice agency headquarters for law enforcement, criminal courts, and corrections, and to managers and executives in these agencies, makes it an ideal location for offering a doctoral-degree program.

The doctoral program is part of a vibrant School, with approximately 1,200 bachelor's students, 60 master's students, and 45 doctoral students. Faculty members are involved in a wide range of applied and basic research. A list of faculty and their research interests is available at www.cj.txstate.edu/people/faculty.

Criminology and Criminal Justice

The Department of Criminology & Criminal Justice offers degree programs including a Bachelor of Arts in Criminal Justice, an Honors B.A. and a Master of Science in Criminal Justice.

The department seeks to provide its students with the theoretical, practical and ethical foundations necessary for understanding crime and the criminal justice system in its social context.

All students have the opportunity to complete an internship to gain experience in their career area. Recent placements include the Honors Internship Program of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, the Florida District Attorney's office, multiple policing agencies such as Jacksonville Sheriff's office, and overseas consular offices. The department has a very active Criminal Justice student club which brings in a wide variety of speakers from federal, state and local agencies.

Members of our faculty have received national, state and local awards for their research, teaching and service. The entire faculty is committed to serving the diverse communities in which we live and work.

In Fall 2014, the Department is pleased to welcome three new faculty members: Michael Cherbonneau, Holly Ventura Miller, and J. Mitchell Miller.
