The University:

California State University, Los Angeles (Cal State LA) is one of 23 campuses within the California State University system. The University is the premier comprehensive public university in the heart of Los Angeles. Cal State LA is ranked number one in the U.S. for the upward mobility of its students, and is dedicated to engagement, service, and the public good. We offer nationally recognized programs in science, the arts, business, criminal justice, engineering, nursing, education, ethnic studies, and the humanities. Our faculty have a strong commitment to scholarship, research, creative pursuits, community engagement, and service.

Our 240,000 alumni reflect the City and County's dynamic mix of populations. The University has one of the most diverse student populations of any college or university in the nation. As a federally recognized Hispanic-Serving Institution, and Asian-American, Native American, and Pacific Islander-Serving Institution, Cal State LA recognizes the transformative power of education and embraces its duty to identify and serve the needs of all of its students. The University is committed to creating a community in which a diverse population can live, work and learn in an atmosphere of civility and respect for the rights and sensibilities of each individual.

The Rongxiang Xu College of Health and Human Services:

Rongxiang Xu College of Health and Human Services offers specialized courses in audiology, child development, community health, community leadership, criminal justice, criminalistics, environmental health, exercise and human performance, food science and technology, forensic mental health, nursing, nutritional science, parenting, physical education, rehabilitation and therapeutic exercise, social work and speech-language pathology through the following academic schools and departments: Department of Child and Family Studies, Department of Communication Disorders, Department of Public Health, School of Criminal Justice and Criminalistics, School of Kinesiology and Nutritional Science, Patricia A. Chin School of Nursing and School of Social Work.

The School of Criminal Justice and Criminalistics:

The School of Criminal Justice and Criminalistics contributes to student success by providing students specialized knowledge and skills to become well informed justice professionals, creating significant learning experiences and partnerships to conduct applied research that improves policy and practice, and promoting social justice, public awareness, scientific investigation, and continuing education related to justice issues.

In 2007, the School moved to the Hertzberg-Davis Forensic Science Center, along with the Los Angeles Police Department and Los Angeles County Sheriff's Crime Laboratories, and the California Forensic Science Institute. This inter-agency, educational, and public safety partnership created numerous hands-on, active learning experiences for students due to the extraordinary exposure to cutting edge research and important practical experience in both juvenile/criminal justice and forensic science.
